

U. S. MARINES DRIVE BACK GERMANS IN TWO MARNE ATTACKS

AMERICANS GO INTO BATTLE WEARING POPPIES IN HELMETS AND DRIVE BACK THE GERMANS

"We Will Do Anything France Asks," They Declare—U. S. Marines Repulse Two Attacks—Infantry Wins Near Toul.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY, June 6 (Associated Press).—When the American troops were entering the line at Veuilly-la-Potterie, where they fought such a gallant battle, they decorated their steel helmets with poppies from the fields, according to details of the fight given by the French soldiers. An American officer told his French comrades that his battalion would not yield an inch of ground, and it did not.

"We will do anything France wants," was the declaration of the soldiers going into battle.

Almost as soon as the Americans arrived at their position they were called upon to receive the shock of a German assault and, according to the French, displayed magnificent qualities of tenacity and bravery.

The American machine gunners caused enormous losses in the ranks of the enemy and by their well-sustained fire greatly aided in defeating the attack. When the French counter-attacked the enemy the Americans again assisted until what remained of the German column retreated in disorder.

There is little left of Chateau-Thierry. It has been shot to pieces, and now is only a pile of bricks and stones.

The Germans concentrated large forces in Veuilly Wood and started across in mass formation. They were mowed down by the American machine gunners, their formations were broken and they were put to flight in conclusion before reaching the American line.

AMERICAN MARINES BEAT OFF TWO GERMAN ATTACKS.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, June 6 (Associated Press).—American marines wrote another glorious page in their history Tuesday night and Wednesday in beating off two determined German attacks on the Marne battlefield. Tuesday night they wiped out a large enemy patrol; yesterday morning they charged and captured enemy machine guns, and yesterday afternoon they killed many of the enemy and took prisoners.

The Germans concentrated large forces before Veuilly Wood and began a mass attack. They were mowed down by the American machine gunners and the attack was broken up before reaching the American line, the Germans fleeing in confusion.

The marines are fighting like Trojans and have no desire for sleep. After inflicting heavy losses on the enemy Tuesday night they almost annihilated an enemy patrol yesterday morning. They outflanked the German machine gun position yesterday afternoon, killed seven Germans and captured a wounded German.

78 IN ON LINER; PASSED DANGER ZONE IN TERROR

Lifeboat Drills Kept Up and Whale Taken for U Boat Caused Alarm.

AT AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 6.

—An American passenger steamer from Central American and West Indian points arrived here this morning with seventy-eight men, women and children, worn out by days and nights of unrelenting vigil occasioned by U boat activity.

Leaving the last Southern port June 1, the liner was at sea when the first wireless messages of warning were picked up. The ship's officers were warned to maintain strict order, lifeboat drill instantly began, notices were posted that lights of every kind should not be displayed on deck. But all information as to the reason for such action was kept from the passengers.

The speed of the craft was increased until she was making under a full head of steam about twenty miles an hour. Capt. Livingston repeatedly assured the passengers that there was no danger for alarm when the ship began its zigzagging. But when a short distance out from the home port a low, black object was seen to be ploughing its way through the water and commenced to circle the ship the tension grew to a high pitch. M. K. Farquhar, wealthy planter from Kingston, Jamaica, described the last two days of the nerve racking journey. He said:

"When that black object was sighted about a mile away lifeboats were swung out and passengers assigned to their stations; life belts were adjusted and we all thought it was a U boat. Our course became irregular and we forged ahead at full speed.

"Finally the object came to the surface and proved to be a whale. That night every one remained on deck, quartered near the boats. Very few slept. Yesterday morning about 4 o'clock, 100 miles off shore, a bright yellowish-red flash was seen far away on the horizon. It appeared like the flash of a gun.

"Immediately our course was altered and we put out to sea. This flash was answered by another flash of five bright lights closer inshore. There was no wireless disturbance, and the entire ship was at a loss to know the cause. We then came about and arrived in port."

GIVES BLOOD TO BROTHER SO HE CAN FIGHT FOR U. S.

BRONX SOLDIER, DEPRESSED BECAUSE HE WAS LEFT BEHIND, REGAINS STRENGTH AFTER TRANSFUSION.

George Wagner lives at No. 403 East 151st Street, in the Bronx, but even while he remains here his blood may be spilled on a battlefield in France.

There are three in the family there now, George, his widowed mother and his younger sister, Adelaide. The fourth, who is absent, is Corp. Peter Wagner, 16th Infantry. While the Corporal is in the army, George, as a letter carrier, supports the family.

On May 29 a telegram came from the War Department saying that Corp. Wagner was gravely ill in a military hospital at Newport News, Va., and that nothing but blood transfusion could save his life.

George and his sister went to Newport News and the brother offered to give blood. The doctors accepted. The Corporal yielded when he understood that his brother's motive was a double one—personal and patriotic. There was a chance for both brothers to offer their blood to their country at the same time.

So from the veins of George two quarts of blood went into the veins of Peter. The operation was a success, and to-day George came back home, a little pale and weak, but with the news that Peter is getting stronger and will soon be able to join his regiment abroad.

ARTILLERY BATTLES ON ITALIAN FRONTS

ROME, June 6.—The artillery struggle was livelier at intervals aside the Brenta and on portions of the Piave front," the War Office announced today.

"Elsewhere the fighting activity was confined to harassing bombardment and patrol actions."

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Wednesday, June 6 (Associated Press).—The Italian Army is improving both in morale and material, according to Major Gen. Elio Swift, head of the American Military Mission to Italy.

"I have been studying the Italian soldier for about three months," he said, "and have found many things to admire. As far as the American Army is concerned, it is quite certain that we need not fear comparison with the Allies as soon as we have profited from their experience. It is to be remembered that the war had been going on from one and one-half to two years before our Allies began to show results."

SENATE ACTS TO CURB THE WAR PROFITEERS

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Senate today opened the drive on war profiteers. It unanimously passed the Borah resolution calling on Secretary McAdoo to furnish all available information on profiteering, together with a list of all concerns making more than 15 per cent profit.

The resolution calls for the information which President Wilson told Congress in his revenue speech is in the Government's hands. It is to form the basis for a concerted wealth confiscation movement, which may go so far as to take every penny of war profits.

GERMAN WOMAN TELLS OF 25 RELATIVES KILLED

BERNE, June 6.—A German woman now in Berne told the Associated Press correspondent today:

"Twenty-five of my relatives have been killed, five are invalids and only two are left unharmed out of 32 engaged in the war. My husband was killed on the German front near Arras. My uncle sent seven sons into the war and six of them were killed within two months."

The losses of the Germans since the March offensive have been terrible, she added.

for the purpose of crossing the bridge prior to its destruction. Here again the courage of the Americans was beyond all praise.

"The Colonials themselves, though accustomed to acts of bravery, were struck by the wonderful morale in the face of fire, the coolness and the extraordinary steadiness of their allies. The watchfulness of the Americans never failed them, and with their machine guns playing upon the approaches of the destroyed bridges and foot bridges they prevented any reattack by the enemy. They will be relieved at the same time as the French troops, at the side of whom they fought.

"The French command, knowing their just pride, fear that they would have humiliated these valiant troops if they had offered them rest sooner than their French companions in the fight. The episode of the Chateau-Thierry will remain one of the most memorable deeds of this war. It is a pleasure for all of us to know that our valiant Allies have shared with us there."

"Section B—On the morning of June 5 Lieuts. Campbell and Meisner forced down an enemy biplane east of Ponta Mousson.

"Between April 14 and May 31 Lieut. Douglas Campbell brought down six hostile airplanes, of which the destruction has been confirmed. During the same time Capt. Peterson and Lieut. Rickenbacher each brought down three, of which destruction has been confirmed, and forced down two more concerning which confirmation has been requested.

GERMANS THREW 22 LADDER FOOTBRIDGES ACROSS MARNE; ONE BATTALION GOT OVER

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS ON THE MARNE, June 6 (via Ottawa).—The recent attempt of the Germans to cross the Marne at Jaulgonne (which American troops helped to repulse), was more serious than appeared from first reports.

The enemy threw twenty-two ladder foot bridges across the river. Four were destroyed by gunfire, but a Prussian battalion crossed on the remainder, two men abreast, and advanced immediately on the railway, installing a machine gun detachment at the station. The remainder spread along the line behind the sheltering embankment.

The defense decided to throw the enemy back across the river at all costs, and this was carried out on Sunday night by dismounted dragoons supported by machine gunners. The latter engaged in a duel with the Germans at the station, enabling the French to work behind the enemy, who incontinently fled, headed by their officers, some of whom plunged into the river and swam across. The remainder of the battalion were killed or captured.

"BOMB" IN HIS VALISE ONLY BREAD AND TURNIPS

Man Threatening to Blow Up Detective O'Farrell in His Office Sent to Bellevue.

A man with a black valise entered the Val O'Farrell Detective Agency, No. 42 Broadway, this morning and asked to see O'Farrell. The latter, suspecting something, tried to camouflage the man.

"Mr. O'Farrell is out," said O'Farrell. "I'm the manager. What can I do?"

"I'm going to blow up the place," the stranger said, "because O'Farrell has been putting poison in my food."

O'Farrell overpowered him, turned him over to the police, and opened the black valise. It contained turnips and bread.

The prisoner said he was Robert Harley, 323 West 53d Street, clerk for the Manhattan Company, 30 Wall Street. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital for observation.
